"Sounds like a cross between their former bands – and their fans will love it." – The Guardian

March 1, 2024 (Los Angeles, CA)– Solo star, Oasis legend and force-of-nature Liam Gallagher has teamed up with John Squire of The Stone Roses as they release their self-titled debut album today via Warner Records – listen to it HERE and purchase HERE. Full track list can be found below.

The album's opening track "Raise Your Hands" is an immediate statement of intent. A stomping glam-rock moment that Liam has compared to Roxy Music with a little Stonesy piano for good measure, it surges with an unrestrained energy that sounds as natural and liberated as if they had just stepped on stage. And as an opening one-two with "Mars To Liverpool" it's clear that the pair have put their full passion into the set.

That vibrancy remains consistent throughout, whether they're exploring melancholy moments that reflect some of Oasis and Liam's solo slowburners ("One Day At A Time") or chiming melodies that echo early Stone Roses ("Just Another Rainbow"), while John's maelstrom of riffs and fluid leads at times feel like a natural succession to "Second Coming" (especially "Love You Forever"). Yet, it also simmers with flashes of their key '60s and '70s influences too: a dash of Sex Pistols power with some Hendrix flair and a touch of The Faces' swaggering rock 'n' roll.

The album sessions were completed with the assistance of Liam's regular producer Greg Kurstin, who also performed bass, and drummer Joey Waronker (Beck, R.E.M., Atoms For Peace).

The duo's official store offers a range of album and merch bundles, while limited quantities remain of the recently launched zoetrope picture disc from Blood Records.

Liam and John will take the album on the road later this month during a sold-out tour, making a stop at Brooklyn Paramount on April 11. Joey Waronker will also perform in the live band which is completed by Barrie Cadogan (Little Barrie, Paul Weller) on bass and Christian Madden on keys.
