August 17, 2020 (Toronto, Ontario) – Roy Woods has shared a compelling new video for "Like Pascal" from his latest EP Dem Times on OVO Sound. From personal style to aesthetic, Roy stays on point and the VHS effect on the visual combined with elevated outfitting make for stunning results. A nod to Toronto Raptors basketball player Pascal Siakam, the video "Like Pascal," directed by L.A. Rubio, arrives as the NBA is back in full swing. It also comes on the heels of his stellar performance from The FADER's Digital FORT 2 and previous visuals for "What We Did" and "2 Me."

Roy told Complex, "'Like Pascal' is a song where I wanted to speak about a different part of the life I live, while also experimenting with new flows and controversial styles throughout the record. With this song, I get more in your face with the lifestyle I live."

Dem Times is the passionate and excellently crafted project from Roy Woods, recorded between LA and Toronto and set to a soundtrack of cinematic beats and signature vocals. To date, Roy Woods has been streamed nearly 2 billion times.

"If [Roy Woods] maintains that same level of hunger and consistency as shown on 'Dem Times,' stardom is imminent." – Billboard

"[On 'I Feel It,'] his bars ebb and flow with an urgency that is at once vulnerable and confident, and his voice takes center stage over a beat that peaks in all the right places." – Teen Vogue

"['Dem Times' is] a conglomeration of lyrical prowess" – VMAN
