October 7, 2022 (Los Angeles, CA)— Showing no signs of stopping or slowing down, Kenzo B reveals a new single entitled “The Facts” [feat. Young Devyn] today via Warner Records. Listen to “The Facts” HERE. Watch the video HERE.

Once again, Kenzo B asserts her dominance with a series of knockout lines punctuated by her quotable bars and bulletproof cadence. Meanwhile, Young Dev pulls up with a potent cameo, matching this energy and intensity. Together, they ignite an explosive banger.

Kenzo B continues a prolific run this year. Last week, she dropped “No Tweakin.” It amplified buzz around the rising star with the scorching music video nearing 100K YouTube views in less than seven days.

With nods from the likes of Vulture, she’s undoubtedly on the cusp of a major breakthrough right now. And with significant traction picking up on streaming platforms, her previously released “Sanctioned” also attracted high praise. The FADER included it on “The Rap Report” and proclaimed, “She can really rap, man.”

Recently signed to French Montana’s Coke Boys, she will be unveiling more new music very soon.

Rising up from The Bronx at just 19 years old, Kenzo B burst out of the gate with “Bump It” which has already racked up 1.4 million YouTube views on its music video and 281K Spotify streams. Pitchfork hailed “The realest” as “The must-hear rap song of the day,” and asserted, “The Bronx drill flamethrower fast raps like she’s hardly busting a sweat.” She continues to amplify this buzz with earth-shaking force and is poised to make 2022 her breakout year.

ABOUT KENZO B:

For Kenzo B, rap is a family business, but it's also a cutthroat competition. The 19-year-old native of the Bronx, who has quickly become one of the most magnetic voices in New York's vibrant drill music scene, honed her skills at home, where she vied with her brother, Bando, to see who could write the better verse to any number of borrowed beats. This spirit of rivalry continued when Kenzo took on the world. Her vocal adaptability and dogged attention to detail—not to mention the charisma that practically drips off of her—have not only made her one of the most instantly inimitable MCs in drill but have allowed her to navigate the traditionally male-dominated genre with ease. While she was still in high school, Kenzo released songs like the Dick Dale-sampling “Bump It” and the critically acclaimed “The Realest,” which were equal parts menacing and free-spirited, marked by raw energy and tonal sophistication the likes of which often elude artists twice her age. As she gears up to release a flurry of new singles—including the piercing, furious “No Tweakin” and the scorching track “Sanctioned”—as well as her debut project on Warner Records, Kenzo has continued to hone her rapid-fire flows and expand her songwriting repertoire. That's all while remembering that, in an era where social media can pull listeners' attention in a thousand different directions, the best way to make yourself stand out in rap is still to go harder than everyone else around you.
