Indonesian rapper and singer Rich Brian has surprise released a new EP titled Brightside. Accompanying the four-track project is a new music video for “Getcho Mans” directed by the Reggies and featuring his 88rising labelmate Warren Hue. In the clip, Brian can be seen riding in a convertible with friends at night and rapping in an old-school phone booth. Check it out below.

“While doing melodies are fun, I wanted to remind people that I still love to rap,” Brian said in a statement. “It’s short, it’s not an album, but I see it like a mental note of how the past year has accelerated my growing-up process as an artist and a person.”

This April, Rich Brian is scheduled to perform at Coachella on the same day as headliner Billie Eilish. His last full-length album, The Sailor, came out in 2019.
