Tae Bae and Dreezy connect for a banger.

The Birkin Bag has been at the center of conversation over the past year and some change. While it has always been a status symbol, it's certainly gained widespread popularity within the hip-hop community. Migos recently released a song called "Birkin" while Quavo partnered with Winners Circle Genetics to create a strain of weed named after the luxurious Hermes bag. Needless to say, Birkin Bags have been inspiring the masses over the years.

This week, rapper Tae Bae slid through with a brand new banger alongside Dreezy paying homage to Birkin Bags titled, "B.B." The strip club friendly-anthem centers thumping bass as Tae Bae expresses his desire to spoil his woman with a Birkin Bag. Dreezy offers a much-needed perspective of a woman on the record.
