KANII BIZ

To mark the gold certification of 18-year-old Washington, D.C., singer Kanii's single "I Know," Warner bosses Aaron Bay-Schuck and Tom Corson joined the artist and other team members for this stately photo opportunity. It was the label co-chiefs' 317th trade pic this week, because they know that every image they send us earns them coveted HITS Points™, which can be redeemed for valuable prizes like vintage back issues of our magazine with just a souppçon of mildew. "I Know," incidentally, has earned north of 230m streams and appears on Kanii's debut EP, exiit (Masked Records/Warner). Seen knowing that if you know you know are (l-r) Corson, Kanii, Bay-Schuck, Masked Records founder Roger Gengo and manager Gio Roca.
