October 18, 2024 (Los Angeles, CA)– Today, celebrated alt-pop singer, multi-instrumentalist and producer Roy Blair is back with a thrilling new single, “Strawberry.” Listen HERE via Warner Records. Densely composed and teeming with charm, the track is the latest gem from Blair’s long-awaited new album, Chasing Moving Trains, which arrives November 1. Pre-order HERE.

Blair sings in his signature falsetto to the uptempo track with a wholly original approach to alt-pop. It follows “Panavision,” a similarly kinetic track with an equally powerful music video that ended his five-year hiatus and set the stage for Chasing Moving Trains. The forthcoming album marks a bold, creative leap for Roy Blair—one where he steps into new territories of expression, evolving his style while maintaining his penchant for evocative lyricism. By combining experimental instrumentation with anthemic hooks, he creates a soundscape that mirrors the emotional complexity and unpredictability of searching for fulfillment.

Blair dropped his debut album, Cat Heaven, in 2017, which has since garnered over 100 million streams. In 2019, he followed up with the cult classic EP Graffiti, and this year released Graffiti: A Mix By Roy Blair, a collection of impressive B-sides, to celebrate the EP’s 5-year anniversary.

Now, with the release of “Strawberry,” Blair playfully showcases his artistic evolution as well as his penchant for crafting unforgettable songs.
