Earl Sweatshirt Returns With 'Live Laugh Love' Album

The Chicago-born artist teased the project during a wild listening party in Los Angeles.

It's a good day for Earl Sweatshirt fans: The rapper/producer just released Live, Laugh, Love — his first full-length solo project in over three years.

Earl announced the album nearly a week ago when he threw a listening party in Los Angeles. Complex's Eric Skelton was among those who attended the event, where guests — including Earl's good friend Zack Fox — were treated to Live, Laugh, Love-inspired cocktails and received copies of a zine with contributions by Steven Yeun, Vince Staples, Donald Glover, Dave Chappelle, and Earl's partner, Aida Osman.

The event was reminiscent of MF DOOM preview events, as he would often send impostors — or “DOOMposters” — to perform at the listening parties.

Live, Laugh, Love spans 11 tracks, with titles like “gsw vs sac,” “Gamma (need the <3),” “Static,” “CRISCO,” and “Heavy Metal aka ejecto seato!” Although the tracklist does not show any featured artists, the album art credits various producers, including DJ Black Noi$, Theravada, Navy Blue, Child Actor, and, of course, Earl.

The project marks Earl's first solo release since 2022's Sick! and his first album since 2023's Voir Dire with The Alchemist. You can stream Live, Laugh, Love now on all major platforms.
