

SHORDIE SHORDIE ANNOUNCES THE CAPTAIN HOOK TOUR

U.S. TOUR KICKS OFF JULY 18TH IN BROOKLYN

June 7, 2019 (Los Angeles, CA) - Baltimore artist Shordie Shordie has announced he will be embarking on his first tour aptly named the Captain Hook Tour, which is also the title of his previously released solo debut project. The 4-city run will begin on July 18th in Brooklyn, NY and make its way through Washington D.C., San Francisco and finish off in Los Angeles on July 27th. The news of the tour follows the release of Shordie's most recent video for "Voice Mail" while buzz continues to skyrocket surrounding the success of his summer anthem "Betchua (Bitchuary)." The infectious "Betchua (Bitchuary)" track has been streamed nearly 50 million times and is currently exploding in both the streets and across social media. Additionally, it has been featured in key playlists such as Spotify's "Most Necessary" and Apple Music's "It's Lit," "On Repeat" and "The Plug." Shordie Shordie continues to rise, gaining the attention of The FADER, XXL, Flaunt Magazine, Genius and more! Don't miss him light up stages in select cities this summer (full dates below).

MORE ABOUT SHORDIE SHORDIE:

Hailing from the Northeast side of Baltimore, Maryland, Shordie Shordie, born RaQuan Hudson, is exploding onto the rap game in full-force. He first emerged in music as a member of Peso Da Mafia, a hip-hop faction started with his brother and cousin, which produced viral hits such as "Money Man." Quickly, Shordie Shordie began generating much attention for the eccentricity and swag he portrayed in the group's videos –propelling his career as a solo artist. Setting the streets on fire with his viral "Bitchuary (Betchua)" visual, which is currently at over 6 million views and counting and is featured on his 2018 project, Captain Hook, Shordie Shordie is paving the way towards a brand-new generation of music.
