October 2, 2020 (Los Angeles, CA) – Today, rising R&B singer/songwriter Savannah Cristina delivers her life-affirming debut EP SELF-CARE via Warner Records. The seven-song project, which boasts breakout single "Gold Mine," showcases her heavenly vocals alongside soothing beats reminiscent of classic nineties R&B. Savannah bares it all with her reflective and therapeutic lyrics that radiate emotional healing and the discovery of a deeper self-love. See the full SELF-CARE EP tracklist below and get it HERE.

Following the buzz around her sensual, breakout single "Self Care" (5.6 million views), Savannah Cristina garnered praise from Alicia Keys and acknowledgment from The FADER, Genius, and Flaunt, as well as Ones To Watch, who commented, "The Florida-born songstress has a voice so buttery, so smooth, it could soothe the most erratic of moods." Essence recently highlighted "Gold Mine" on their "Cuffing SZN Playlist," touting Savannah as "a bold and robust vocalist," and UPROXX included the song among "The Best New R&B From This Week."

Savannah's star power illuminates tenfold when she hits the stage to perform live. Last week, she produced a socially distanced sold-out show at Dezerland Park drive-in in her hometown of Miami. The outdoor performance was a whole vibe. Check it out HERE. She recently gave breathtaking acoustic performances on MTV's #AloneTogether Jam Session, Quibi's Musicology, and the pre-event for the Roots Picnic Virtual Experience with a heartfelt cover of Sam Cooke's "A Change Is Gonna Come."

ABOUT SAVANNAH CRISTINA:

R&B singer and songwriter Savannah Cristina practices “soul therapy.” The vocalist’s showstopping voice, poetic confessions, and warm spirit flip feelings of pain into prowess, sadness into joy, and loss into love. Amassing nearly 19 million views, generating over 23 million streams, and attracting the endorsements of everyone from Alicia Keys to The FADER thus far, the Florida-born songstress both captivates and heals on her 2020 debut for Warner Records. After a childhood singing and writing poetry, the South Florida artist dropped her debut single “Spend It On Me” in 2016. Fueling a buzz around her hometown, she launched a series of independent releases— Faded, Mango Season, and Florida Girl. At the end of 2019, the single and video for “Self Care” caught fire. Sparse finger-snaps and gentle guitar sway beneath emotionally charged verses as the track builds towards a stunning, yet soothing refrain. Directed and shot by Savannah in front of the ocean, the accompanying visual went viral to the tune of 5.6 million views and counting. In January 2020, GRAMMY® Award-winning icon Alicia Keys touted it in a Genius Cosign clip. Now with more music and performances on the horizon, Savannah’s “soul therapy” will make an impact for a long time to come.
