November 13, 2020 (Los Angeles, CA) – Today, Montreal-born, New Jersey-raised artist Love Mansuy (his birth given name; pronounced “mon-swee”) has released a new documentary short titled (món-swee) that follows the singer-songwriter back home to the place that shaped him. Premiered today in tandem with his (món-swee) Side B EP, the documentary finds Love excavating his past in order to make sense of the present and was shot by Love’s childhood friend Quran Squire. Watch it in full HERE.

Titled after his surname, the (món-swee) EP is split into two sides (A and B), showing the dynamism in Love’s sound and story. (món-swee) Side A features appearances from Love’s son Carter Mansuy, Liv.e and Lil Wayne as Love contemplates on fatherhood and partnership. The project also includes Quran Squire-shot videos for tracks "I'll Be There" (feat. Carter Mansuy) and "Thrill" (feat. Liv.e).

On (món-swee) Side B, Love taps into the nostalgia of his childhood, reminiscing about more carefree times before he became a father, hanging out with his cousins in New Jersey and enjoying the ecstasy of youthful self-discovery. Musically on Side B, Love pays homage to some of his early musical influences, including everything from Coldplay to Adele and even Paramore. Those references radiate on Side B songs "When We Were Kids" and "Saturdays."

This new music from Love Mansuy is a dawn of a new creative journey, showcasing a more diverse palette of sound as Love reimagines masculinity and fatherhood by exploring vulnerability, desire, companionship, self-care and meditations on reconnecting with his own father, childhood and family. On Tuesday, Love performed songs from the (món-swee) EP on Bandsintown Live. Watch the performance HERE. For more on Love Mansuy, visit: <https://www.instagram.com/lovmansuy/?hl=en>
