April 2, 2021 (Los Angeles, CA) – Today, 2021 “Best Rap Album” Grammy-Award nominee Freddie Gibbs releases “Big Boss Rabbit,” a surprise single that finds him taunting the opposition and flexing the fruits of his labor after his busy awards season. Accompanied by a JMP directed video, “Big Boss Rabbit” is Gibbs’ third single and a taste of what’s to come since partnering with Warner Records in 2020. Listen HERE and watch the video HERE.

"Big Boss Rabbit" opens with a Mike Tyson sample that encapsulates Gibbs' current frame of mind: "I'm the best in the world. It's facts." From there, Gibbs floats over cinematic strings and banging trap drums like a heavyweight champ. He bounces in and out of breakneck double-time flow, rapping about carrying cash in designer luggage and celebrating his many victories. Every punchline is an absolute haymaker. On the hook, Gibbs reminds you that he's always ready both for war, and the cover of men's fashion magazines: "Three MAC-11's, back of the 7 on some boss shit / I put that president on my wrist, and I got frostbit."

"Big Boss Rabbit" is a nod back to the video for Gibbs' "Gang Signs," his smooth February single with TDE's Schoolboy Q. Onscreen, Gibbs is an animated gangster rabbit riding around in the real world. Chain around his neck and gun on the dash, he gets his money and ducks the pigs (literally). This new single continues an especially productive streak for Gibbs. In October 2020, he debuted on Warner Records with Big Sean collaboration "4 Thangs," which followed the May release of his Grammy-nominated collaboration with The Alchemist, Alfredo. But as "Big Boss Rabbit" confirms, being the best means rarely taking days off. The effort always shows. Animated rabbit gangster and more Gibbs merchandise are available HERE.

Complex exclusively announced that Freddie Gibbs will make his feature film acting debut later this year in Down with the King, in which he plays the lead role. Written and directed by Diego Ongaro, and produced by Breaker 45, Freddie plays rapper who goes by the name Money Merc and is looking to leave hip-hop. Look for the movie to show up at film festivals soon.

ABOUT FREDDIE GIBBS:

Freddie Gibbs has become one of hip-hop's most important, inimitable, and influential voices via his quotable wordplay, versatile songs, and unflinching honesty. Since 2004, the uncompromising Indiana-raised rapper has built a diehard global fan base and regularly attracted tastemaker adoration. His discography includes 20-plus mixtapes, eight EPs, four official solo albums, and four top-billed collaborative records. 2019's Bandana with Madlib was a new critical and commercial high watermark. After bowing at #21 on the Billboard Top 200, it closed 2019 on year-end lists by Vulture, Vibe, UPROXX, Stereogum, Noisey, SPIN, Complex, and more. GQ called it "one of the best albums of the year" and promised, "Freddie Gibbs will rap circles around anybody." Teaming up with Warner Records in 2020, his momentum only accelerated six months later as The Alchemist-assisted Alfredo drew the same enthusiasm, landing a 2021 GRAMMY nomination for Best Rap Album and hitting #4 on the Billboard Top Album Sales chart. Freddie Gibbs has collaborated with everyone from Pusha T, Killer Mike, Anderson .Paak, and Yasiin Bey to Tyler, The Creator, Gucci Mane, A$AP Ferg, Jay Rock, and Young Thug, in addition to contributing music to blockbuster video game franchises, such as Grand Theft Auto, Max Payne, and NBA2K. Previously, Gibbs teamed up with ESPN for Black History Month, to perform on their "Black History Always" special The Undeclared Presents: A Room of Our Own, and was featured on The Undeclared's Music For The Moment/Black History Always EP.
