October 5, 2021 (Toronto, ON) – Today, the pop auteurs in Majid Jordan (Majid Al Maskati and Jordan Ullman) announce Wildest Dreams, their first album in nearly four years. Laced with romantic, new wave-inflected tracks, the anticipated project is an emphatic reminder of why the dreamy duo became recognized as cutting-edge musical tastemakers and is set for release on October 22nd via OVO Sound. They also announced a string of U.S. shows in celebration of the album kicking off in San Francisco before making their way to Los Angeles, Chicago, Brooklyn and Toronto.

Riding the momentum of singles like “Summer Rain,” “Been Through That,” and “Waves of Blue,” Wildest Dreams sees the group expand the scope of their sound with songs that push beyond their R&B roots and into the pop stratosphere. Coated in glossy '80s synths, sensual vocals, and lyrics that channel romantic longing, “Summer Rain” evokes the feeling of finding love on the dancefloor. The music dives deep into the overwhelming sensations that emerge from vulnerability and themes centered on love’s dawning. “Been Through That” is an uplifting anthem that, upon its arrival, felt like the perfect soundtrack to summer’s warmth. Meanwhile, “Waves of Blue” is a glittering tune that features disarmingly tender lyrics and new wave-tinged production. Those singles—and Wildest Dreams on whole—only build on the genre-defying dynamics and lyrical sincerity fans have come to expect of the duo.

Majid Jordan are in peak form going into their first album since 2017’s The Space Between. Praised for its blend of throwback pop aesthetics and lucid songwriting, that album was a memorable snapshot of the duo at their best—so far. Sure enough, Majid Jordan’s best is still yet to come, and fans will hear the end result for themselves when Wildest Dreams is released.

ABOUT MAJID JORDAN:

Majid Jordan season is upon us. Visionary duo Majid Jordan (singer Majid Al-Maskati and producer Jordan Ullman) has been a go-to for R&B/Dance playlist aficionados, and they're back, ready to explode onto the global pop scene. The release of their 2013 debut EP 'Afterhours' turned heads: their seamless, sensuous blend of honest R&B, pop, and dance catching the attention of OVO Sound's Noah "40" Shebib. After co-producing and co-writing Drake's 2013 6x-platinum smash "Hold On We're Going Home" Majid Jordan's sound catapulted into the mainstream. Signing to OVO Sound in 2013, Majid Jordan doubled down on their signature sound, releasing their first official EP, 'A Place Like This' in 2014, and the eponymous, full-length version in 2016. Majid Jordan's most sonically dynamic album yet, 'The Space Between', came in 2017 featuring contributions from PARTYNEXTDOOR and dvn. Acclaimed by critics and listeners alike, Majid and Jordan embarked on a year-long world tour and successful festival run before releasing "Caught Up" ft. Khalid in 2019. Since their last release, the duo have been consumed in developing their sound. Deconstructing. Inventing. Expanding. More confident and evolved than ever before, Majid and Jordan are inviting everyone to experience their reimagined and wild universe. Welcome to the next chapter.
